INNOVATION FOR FUTURE!

As a world-renowned brand in the industry, ROTAKE distributes its products in more than 70 countries and regions, and has its partners and sales service network all over the world.

Innovation means progress and improvement in all forms. Today, the way to provide high-quality tools is being rethought, through the technological innovation presented by industrial design and materials science, improving the performance and reducing the cost of hardware tool products.

Every form of innovation is critical to business and personal success. As business leader Jack Welch said, "If external change happens faster than internal, the end is at hand". This is the origin of our slogan: Innovation for future!

The future of hardware tool is full of ambitious ideas such as the application of intelligently design, improvement of stability and reliability, as well as the diversification strategy. As a reliable and competent partner, Rotake will seize upon all the opportunities, supporting its customers in achieving long-term success goals.
